THE MANAGER DARRELL CLARKE

Good afternoon Robins fans and once again welcome back to the Completely-Suzuki Stadium for this afternoon's visit of Bristol Rovers. I'd like to welcome all the players, staff and fans from my former club Rovers after the short trip to Cheltenham today.

Tuesday's result and performance against Carlisle United was a very disappointing one. We went out with a plan, but people just didn't take enough responsibility and I was searching for answers at half-time which at the moment I'm not finding currently. I always thought we would go on a bad run at some point, but we really let our supporters down in that game.

But I also have to look at our gameplans to ensure we are a lot better. I've put it on myself to go away and find a team and gameplan that performs a lot better than Tuesday because we are all desperate to succeed. This job takes up every minute of my day.

We're having to play catch-up currently, but it is important not to feel sorry for ourselves, get on with it and react correctly this afternoon and put in a performance that can get us the three points.

Thank you for your fantastic, continued support and I hope you enjoy today's game.

MATCHDAY PARTY: CHURCHDOWN PANTHERS U10s WHITES

We started four seasons ago at U7s, our squad of 13 is now in our first season in the Cheltenham Development League, having spent the previous three seasons in the Gloucester equivalent. The Team is made up of children from a variety of different schools within the Cheltenham and Gloucester area; we play our home games at Parton Manor School in Churchdown.

Our players view each match as an opportunity to improve and progress. This desire is underpinned every Monday when they show up to training, often in foul weather, with an enthusiasm to do just that. The current season has been a steep learning curve but with determination, enthusiasm and teamwork performances have steadily improved leading to clean sheets and victories in recent matches.

The coaches work hard to foster a truly inclusive environment. Our ethos centres around positivity, support, and the primary goal of having fun. It must be said that without the consistent, patient, and regular support of the children's parents this would not be achieved. Thanks to parental generosity and donations our team have benefitted from sponsored training tops (Pritchard Motor Services) not to mention a pop-up five-seater camping bench and a gazebo to keep the players dry and comfortable on match days.

As we look towards our U11s season and the daunting prospect of offsides and nine-a-side we can do so with optimism and pride at how far we have come over the last few years. If support, teamwork and attitude have anything to do with it we will win more games than we lose.

Wow what a year it has been! My first year as Her Game Too ambassador has seen me work closely with both the men and women's team at Cheltenham Town.

My team has grown with the addition of three great advocates in Mary Stone, Taz Scoles and Emily Moore. Thank you girls, you've been my rock this season when times have been tough, it's been a crazy season where we've drove each other nuts and definitely laughed a lot!

be without. I know this has been asked for for quite some time, so I'm thrilled that this is now happening.

We've seen a dedicated hotline created to help report any abuse, which has been very successful. With that comes the unfortunate news that we have had to deal with some very serious reports, which the club and I have been involved with working closely with the victims to successfully resolve the issues. It just brings to light that, even now, women are still encountering sexist and misogynistic comments and abuse, which is extremely upsetting but this is why I am so passionate about being an ambassador for Her Game Too here at Cheltenham Town.

Also, in the summer we'll be hoping to bring you an event with the Community Trust and the Robins Trust for women and girls, so keep your eyes peeled for this on our socials. One thing I'd love to grow is for more grassroots clubs to be a part of Her Game Too, to spread the light that is this incredible organisation and empower girls and women within the footballing community.

Together with the Community Trust, in all ladies toilets around the ground there will be free sanitary products to help combat period poverty next season, as we believe no one should

This year has been one of the best and

I can't wait to see what the next year brings. I just want to say a big thank you to Her Game Too for believing in me and letting me be a part of an organisation that truly is incredible, I'm so proud to be an ambassador for Her Game Too!

2022/23

17th, League One

In the shadow of their neighbours and fierce rivals Bristol City, Bristol Rovers under Matt Taylor are setting out their stall to establish themselves again in League One.

The 2022/23 season was their first back in the third tier after a one year stay in League Two that ended in memorable circumstances as a final day 7-0 win over Scunthorpe United earned them automatic promotion ahead of promotion rivals Northampton Town on goal difference. A 17th place finish in League One followed which is being matched by the spot in 16th place they currently occupy this term.

A lot of the reasoning behind their previous five-year-stay at this level can be put down to the work of current Robins manager Darrell Clarke, who lifted the club from the National League to League One in two seasons before guiding the Gas to respective 10th and 13th place finishes. Another link between the two sides comes in the form of former Town loanees Elkan Baggott, who joined the Gas in January.

Baggott has been a common feature in the side since arriving at the club, playing in an impressive run of four wins in seven from the beginning of February before a seven-game winless run with no goals hit Taylor's side, seeing them fall from 11th to their current home in 16th.

It has created symmetry between their home and away form this season however, now with seven wins coming at the Memorial Stadium and seven on their travels. Hopes of making that eight wins on the road will be high going in to today's fixture after a 4-1 success at the Completely-Suzuki Stadium last term as well as being unbeaten on Cheltenham turf in competitive fixtures since 2008.

Hoping to be key to upholding that proud 16-year run will be the experienced and talismanic forward Chris Martin, who has 15 goals to his name in 32 League One appearances this season. He has helped the club deal with the departure of star man Aaron Collins in January to Bolton Wanderers with fellow attackers Luke Thomas and John Marquis also in the goals. Antony Evans has provided the creative heartbeat behind them pulling the strings in midfield with 19 goal contributions in all competitions and has found assistance in the shape of club record signing Kamil Conteh from Grimsby Town behind him.

BOB'S STORY

Hi, my name is Bob and this is my story:

I was diagnosed with chronic fatigue syndrome in the 1990's. Over the years my mobility got worse and worse so I had a spinal MRI to find out why. The results of that MRI showed a tumour in my neck and changed my life. After taking a biopsy, the team decided they needed to operate and just a few weeks later, I was under the knife having the tumour removed.

Two weeks after the op, I had an appointment with an oncologist, they told me what they'd found and diagnosed a salivary duct carcinoma. There were estimated to be only about 200 cases worldwide every year at that time and over the next 6 weeks I began treatment and had 30 sessions of radiotherapy.

My oncology specialist nurse suggested that I visit the Maggie's centre at the hospital, just drop in for a cup of tea and a chat she said. What I discovered was a haven of support. As my treatment progressed it became clear that it was harder for my family and friends to deal with my illness than for myself as I spent a lot of time managing their expectations and their emotions but at times I just needed to focus on myself. This was where I realised the true value of Maggie's. Having them there to support my family took a hell of a lot of weight off my shoulders and I've been raising funds for them ever since to ensure others can benefit in the same way that myself and my family have.

I completed the London Marathon in 2022 as part of Team Maggie's and with various half marathons and numerous 10k events under my belt, I'm proud to be back as part of Team Maggie's again for London Marathon 2024 where I will be taking part alongside my son Darren in my wheelchair.

If you feel you'd like to support my efforts, please use the QR code below to access my fundraising page.

Many thanks,
Bob

GETTING TO KNOW

NOAH MILLINGTON

Robins supporter Noah Millington started regularly coming to Cheltenham Town matches in the 2021-22 season with his dad John and sister Daisy, and they have now been season ticket holders for two seasons.

Noah was a Club Ambassador last season, helping raise awareness of autism and further celebrating an inclusive atmosphere in our football community.

He experienced being on the radio gantry alongside media professionals from the BBC, writing up match reports and experiences for the club programme and website.

Noah used his experiences at the club to share with his fellow pupils and teachers at Alderman Knight School through assemblies and notice boards.

The Millington family and Supporter Liaison Team worked together alongside the football club and Cheltenham Town Community Trust to explore the matchday experience for children with special needs.

Earlier this season, he also joined the Supporters Services Group for the dedicated Unite for Access match on 2nd March to welcome and chat to supporters.

What did it mean to you being a Club Ambassador?

It meant a lot to me. I had always wanted to do something regarding my autism. I knew I was capable of spreading awareness. The things I did while I was the ambassador really boosted my confidence, and I've had a lot of brilliant experiences with the club in general.

Talking to Dave Hardy [Support Services Group matchday representative] and working with the SLO Team, it feels like a real community and everyone's friends.

What's been your favourite thing about attending Robins matches?

It has to be the interaction between the players and fans. Luke Southwood, Sean Long, Will Ferry and [former Cheltenham Town striker] Alfie May all have gone out of their way to improve our experiences.

Sean Long always makes time for the fans. He recognises us straight away, and he's really good with my sister. I've accompanied him out on the pitch before [for the dedicated Autism Awareness match last season].

I also had a training ground visit, which was probably one of my favourite things that I did as the Club Ambassador. I got to play indoor cricket with the team, and I was treated as if I was one of the lads.

What has it been like meeting more Cheltenham Town supporters?

Getting to know more of the fans has been brilliant. There's a lot more interaction. It brings a sense of family to it. Most people know each other where we sit in the main stand, and we all have a good chat.

What do you think is the best thing about the team right now? Darrell Clarke brought life back to Cheltenham. Before him, we were basically dead and buried. But the morale between the players, and the communication that I can hear going on the pitch is brilliant. They aren't just colleagues - they seem like a family.

In one or two words, how would you describe this season?
